PART 3

OCCUPATIONAL INJURIES

Injury benefit payable to persons under the age of 16 years

7. (1) Subject to this article, a person under the age of 16 years shall be entitled to injury benefit in accordance with the provisions of sections 74(1) to (4).

(2) The weekly rate of injury benefit in the case of any such person shall be the amount set out, as appropriate, in column (2) of Schedule 1 and such injury benefit shall not be payable otherwise than to a parent or guardian of such person or to a person appointed by the Minister to receive the benefit on behalf of such person.

(3) In column (1) of Schedule 1, “relevant employment” means any employment in which the person under the age of 16 years was or would, but for the relevant injury, have been employed during the week in which, as the result of the relevant injury, he or she first became incapable of work.

Assessment of disablement and prescribed degrees of disablement

8. (1) Section 75(4) shall have effect in accordance with this article.

(2) (a) Subject to paragraph (b), where as a result of the relevant accident the claimant has suffered an injury specified in column (1) of Schedule 2, other than a case to which sub-article (3) applies, the loss of faculty suffered by the claimant as a result of that injury shall be treated for the purposes of section 75 as resulting in the degree of disablement set against such injury in column (2) of Schedule 2.

(b) Where a person has suffered an injury referred to in paragraph (a) and specified in Schedule 2 which includes any other injury so specified, sub-article (a) shall apply only to the first-mentioned injury.

(3) Where as a result of the relevant accident the claimant has suffered an injury specified in Schedule 2, but—

(a) as a result of that injury the claimant may be expected, having regard to his or her physical and mental condition at the date of the assessment in respect of that injury, to be subject to greater disabilities than would normally be incurred as a result of such an injury, or

- (b) the part of the body by which the injury was sustained would not, apart from that injury, have been normal at the date of assessment, the loss of faculty suffered by the claimant as a result of such injury shall be assessed by reference to the degree of disablement set against such injury in column (2) of Schedule 2 subject to such adjustment as may be reasonable in the circumstances of the case.

- (4) For the purposes of assessing the extent of the disablement resulting from any injury which is not specified in Schedule 2, regard as may be appropriate may be had to the provisions of sub-article (2) or sub-article (3).

Amount of disablement gratuities

9. Where the extent of a claimant's disablement is assessed at any of the degrees of disablement severally specified in column (1) of Schedule 3, the amount of any disablement gratuity payable shall—

- (a) if the period taken into account by that assessment is limited by reference to the claimant's life or is not less than 7 years, be the amount specified in column (2) of Schedule 3 as appropriate to that degree of disablement,
- (b) in any other case, be an amount which bears the same proportion to the amount so specified as the period taken into account by the assessment bears to a period of 7 years, a fraction of 5 cent being, for this purpose, treated as 5 cent.

Pension in lieu of disablement gratuities

10. Where, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of section 75(10), a claimant opts for the substitution of a pension for a gratuity, the weekly rate of the pension shall be the amount specified in column (3) of Schedule 3 as appropriate to the degree of disablement assessed in his or her case.

Increase of disablement pension on account of incapacity

11. For the purposes of paragraph (a) of section 77(2), the prescribed amount of earnings in a year shall be €1,196.

Adjustment of benefit for successive accidents where a disablement gratuity is payable

12. (1) In a case where—

- (a) a person who is entitled, as a result of an accident, to disablement pension (hereafter in this article referred to as an "existing pension") which is payable in respect of an assessment for a period which is limited by reference to that person's life, becomes as a result of any other accident subject to a loss of faculty in respect of which disablement gratuity would, but for this article, be payable, and
- (b) the aggregate amount of the assessment in respect of the existing pension and of the assessment in respect of which such disablement gratuity would be payable would, if it were the amount of the assessment of the extent of the disablement resulting from the accident which gave rise to the existing pension, have entitled him or her to receive disablement pension at a higher rate than the rate of such existing pension, if, at any time before his or her claim for disablement benefit is determined, he or she so elects, that person shall be entitled to disablement pension in lieu of the said disablement gratuity at a rate equal to the difference between the said higher rate and the rate of the existing pension.

(2) In a case in which a person who is entitled as a result of any accident to disablement pension who would but for the provisions of this sub-article become entitled in respect of any other accident to disablement gratuity—

- (a) if the assessment in respect of which such pension is payable to him or her amounts to not less than 100 per cent, such person shall not be entitled to receive any disablement gratuity in respect of such other accident,
- (b) in any other case, such person shall not be entitled to receive, by way of disablement gratuity in respect of such other accident, an amount exceeding that which would be payable in respect of an assessment equal to the difference between 100 per cent and the percentage of the assessment in respect of which such pension is payable to him or her.

(3) For the purposes of sub-articles (1) and (2), references to an existing pension within the meaning of sub-article (1) and to any disablement pension in sub-article (2) respectively shall include references to all such pensions which may be payable to the person concerned, and references to the amount of the assessment in respect of which, and the rate at which, any such pension is payable shall include references to the aggregate amount of the assessments in respect of which, or the aggregate of the rates at which, all such pensions are payable.

Adjustment of increase of disablement benefit in respect of successive accidents

13. (1) Where a person who is entitled to a pension in respect of any accident suffered by him or her has received, or is entitled to, a disablement gratuity in respect of loss of faculty arising from any other accident, such loss of faculty shall, for the purposes of section 77, be treated as if it resulted from the accident in respect of which such disablement pension is payable.

(2) At any time at which the sum total of the several assessments in respect of two or more accidents suffered by any person amounts to less than 100 per cent during the continuance of the periods respectively taken into account thereby, the weekly rate of disablement pension which is payable to him or her may be increased in accordance with section 78 if he or she requires constant attendance as a result of the loss of faculty resulting from any one or more such accidents, whether or not that pension is payable in respect of an assessment of 100 per cent or in respect of that loss of faculty.

(3) A beneficiary who has suffered two or more accidents shall not be entitled at any time to more than one of each of the following increases of benefit, that is to say—

- (a) by way of incapacity supplement, under section 77,
- (b) in respect of the need of constant attendance, under section 78,
- (c) in respect of a qualified child under section 76(2) or (3),

Provisions as to incapacity for work

14. (1) For the purposes of the Principal Act, a person who would not otherwise be treated as incapable of work as a result of having suffered an occupational accident shall be so treated in respect of any day on which, as a result of that accident he or she satisfies the conditions specified in sub-articles (2) and (3).

(2) A person who is not incapable of work shall, if it is so decided under the Principal Act, be deemed to be incapable of work by reason of some specific disease or bodily or mental disablement for any day when—

- (b) does any work on that day other than work of a nature specified in article 75(6),
- (c) is in respect of that day being paid by his or her employer in respect of holiday leave.

- (a) be treated as having been employed on the first day only, if the employment before midnight is of longer duration than that after midnight, and, in that case, the first day shall not be treated as a day of incapacity for work, or
- (b) be treated as having been employed on the second day only, if the employment after midnight is of longer duration than that before midnight, or if the employments before and after midnight are of equal duration, and, in either of these cases, the second day shall not be treated as a day of incapacity for work.

(3) Where a person—

- (a) suffers an occupational accident during any such period of employment as is referred to in sub-article (2), and
- (b) is thereby immediately rendered incapable of work, sub-article (2) shall apply, subject to the following qualifications—

- (i) if the period of employment before midnight would, apart from the onset of the incapacity, have been of longer duration than that after midnight, the first of the two days shall be treated as the day of the accident and the person employed shall in respect of such period be treated as employed on that day only, and
- (ii) nothing in sub-article (2) shall be taken as preventing the day of the accident or the day which is to be treated as the day of the accident from being treated as a day of incapacity for work.

(4) Where a person—

- (a) is by virtue of any of this article to be treated as having been employed on one day only of the two days, and

- (b) throughout that part of the other of those two days during which that person is not employed, is, or is to be treated in accordance with regulations as, incapable of work as a result of an occupational accident, that person shall be treated as being so incapable of work throughout that other of those two days.

relation to which pneumoconiosis is prescribed by virtue of paragraph (i) of this sub-article, and

- (c) Occupational deafness is prescribed in relation to all insured persons who have been employed—
  - (i) in insurable (occupational injuries) employment at any time on or after 1 May 1967, and

CHAPTER 3

Date of Development and Recrudescence

Development of disease

25. Where in respect of a claim for benefit under section 87 in respect of a prescribed disease the insured person is found to be or to have been suffering from the disease, or to have died as a result thereof, the disease shall, for the purpose of such claim, be treated as having developed on a date (hereafter referred to as “the date of development”) determined in accordance with articles 26 and 27.

Date of development

26. (1) (a) Subject to paragraph (b), for the purposes of the first claim in respect of a prescribed disease suffered by an insured person, the date of development shall be determined in accordance with this article and, save as provided in article 27, that date shall be treated as the date of development for the purposes of any subsequent claim in respect of the same disease suffered by the same person.

(b) Where, on the consideration of a claim referred to in paragraph (a), an award of benefit is not made, any date of development determined for the purposes of that claim shall be disregarded for the purposes of any subsequent claim.

(2) Where a claim for the purposes of which the date of development is to be determined is—

(a) a claim for injury benefit, the date of development shall be either the first day on or after 1 May 1967 on which the claimant was incapable of work as a result of the disease or, where applicable, the date from which benefit is payable, or

(b) a claim for disablement benefit, the date of development shall be either the day on or after 1 May 1967 on which the claimant first suffered from the relevant loss of faculty or, where applicable, the date from which benefit is payable, or

(c) a claim for death benefit, the date of development shall be the date of death.

(3) In sub-article (2), “the date from which benefit is payable” means, in relation to any claim, the first day of the period in respect of which benefit may be paid on that claim having regard to article 43 or may have been so paid but for section 74(2).

Recrudescence

27. (1) Where an insured person has been awarded benefit under section 87 in respect of a prescribed disease other than pneumoconiosis, byssinosis, occupational asthma or occupational deafness and has recovered wholly or partially and thereafter suffers a further attack of the same disease, or dies as a result of such attack—

- (a) where the further attack of the disease commences or the death occurs during an injury benefit period or during a period taken into account by an assessment of disablement relating to such a previous award (either of which period is referred to as a “relevant period”) it shall be treated as a recrudescence of the attack to which the relevant period relates except where, having regard to the particular circumstances relating to the further attack it is found that the disease was contracted or received afresh, in which case it shall be then so treated,
- (b) where the further attack of the disease commences or the death occurs on a date outside a relevant period, it shall be treated as having been contracted or received afresh, and
- (c) for the purposes of this sub-article, the date on which the further attack of the disease commenced shall be the date deemed to be the date of development under the provision of article 26 applied as though no previous claim had been made in respect of the disease.

(2) Where, in accordance with this article, a disease is treated as having been contracted afresh, the provisions of article 26 shall be applied as though no previous claim had been made in respect of that disease and the date of development shall be determined accordingly.

(3) Where, in accordance with this article, a disease is treated as a recrudescence during a period taken in to account by a previous assessment of disablement, any assessment of disablement in respect of the recrudescence shall be by way of revision of such previous assessment.

Transitional provision

28. Where, under this Part of these Regulations a date of development must be determined for the purpose of a claim for benefit in respect of pneumoconiosis or byssinosis suffered by a claimant who is or has been entitled in respect of the same disease to any compensation under the Workmen’s Compensation Acts, the disease in respect of which the claim is made shall be treated for the purpose of these Regulations as not having developed on or after 1 May 1967.

CHAPTER 4

Application of RegulationsDefinition

In this Chapter, “relevant disease” means, in relation to any claim for benefit in respect of a prescribed disease, the prescribed disease in respect of which benefit is claimed, but does not include any previous or subsequent attack of that disease, suffered by the same person, which, under Chapter 3 of this Part, is or has been treated—

Where an insured person, not having been entitled to injury benefit in respect of a relevant disease, claims disablement benefit in respect of that disease, and in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 4 of these Regulations, a date of development is determined for the purposes of that claim, the following shall apply—

- (a) Section 75(3) (which relates to the period for which disablement benefit is not available) shall not apply and the claim shall be treated as if there had been no injury benefit period,
- (b) Section 75(6) (which relates to the period to be taken into account by an assessment of the extent of the claimant’s disablement) shall have effect as if for references therein to the end of the injury benefit period were substituted by references to the date of development.

Assessment of extent of disablement

33. For the purposes of paragraph (b) of section 75(4) (which relates to the disabilities to be taken into account in assessing the extent of the claimant's disablement) an injury or disease other than the relevant disease shall be treated as having been received or contracted before the relevant disease if it was received or contracted on or before the date of development, and as having been received or contracted after the relevant disease if it was received or contracted after that date.

Exception from requirement as to notice

34. Article 49 (which relates to the giving of notice of accidents in respect of which benefit may be payable) shall not apply in relation to prescribed diseases.

Provisions as to medical examination

35. (1) Section 91 (which relates to the disqualification for injury benefit or disablement benefit and suspension of proceedings where a claimant or beneficiary fails without good cause to submit to medical examination for the purpose of determining the effect of the relevant accident), shall apply to medical examinations for the purpose of determining whether a claimant or beneficiary is suffering or has suffered from a prescribed disease, and article 75 shall, subject to sub-article (2), be construed accordingly.

Pneumoconiosis — effect of tuberculosis

38. Where any claimant is found to be suffering from pneumoconiosis accompanied by tuberculosis, the effects of the tuberculosis shall be treated for the purposes of section 87 and these Regulations as if they were effects of the pneumoconiosis.

Vibration-induced white finger — special provision

39. Where a claimant in respect of vibration-induced white finger who has traumatic vasospasm of a phalanx or phalanges of one hand is at the loss of a phalanx or phalanges of that hand, it shall be assumed for purposes of the claim that such missing phalanx or phalanges would have been subject to traumatic vasospasm.
